Hello OCDA Members!

It is with great pleasure to introduce myself and the other new OCDA Board Members. I met a few of you at the PDI this spring, but wanted to take a moment to share a little more about my background. Over the past 10 years I have served in both the public and private sectors providing career guidance. Most recently, I have had the opportunity to teach business courses for Portland Community College and Clackamas Community College and serve as the HR Manager for a large organization.

As an agent of change within my community, I always encourage and support others in their positive development. Serving as the President of the OCDA will allow a platform to give back to others in the realm of career development and exploration. I believe giving access to all individuals in pursuits of their goals and aspirations. I would like to use my time as President to shed more light on diversity and accessibility within career development. The OCDA theme this year is "Promoting Career Accessibility." As members of Oregon Career Development Association, we all make an important impact to the field of career development and my hope is to foster unison in achieving our vision and mission of serving others.

Please join me in welcoming our other new Board Members:

Meghan Oswald, Program Manager at Portland State University serving as Communication Coordinator
Emily Dray, Career & Employment Specialist at Linn-Benton Community College serving as Member at Large
Mary Vance, Career Counselor at Portland State University serving as Member at Large
